

Baseball Gathering Due in New York This Week With Prospects of Action

HECTIC FLUSH HITS BASEBALL AT LAST

Annual Meetings in New York Have Unusual Importance This Winter.

HENRY'S CASE PROMINENT

Several Trade Offers Are Sure to Be Made to Manager Griffith.

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

Baseball begins today to take on its annual hectic flush. It is preparing for the annual February sessions of the magnates and managers in New York. And there is much to do. Three important meetings are to be held. The National Commission, the National League, and the American League will convene and decisions of moment are expected.

The National Commission will consider changes in the drafting regulations, having received appeals from the International League and the American Association to that end. It will also discuss new rules for the world's series.

New Playing Rules. Percy Haughton, president of the Boston Braves, assisted by a few other noble souls, has launched a campaign calling for changes in the playing rules calculated to increase batting and, therefore, general interest in the game.

It violates no confidences whatever to say right here that the committee appointed by John A. Tener will report that the present playing rules are good enough. But even if this committee were to report to the contrary, the American League would have to concur before any change could be adopted. Ban Johnson, who is the American League committee by himself, has no intention of changing the present playing rules.

Henry's Case Comes. Unless Ban Johnson suffers a change of heart, the case of John Henry will come before the American League for discussion.

Manager Griffith and possibly President Minor will be in New York this week to safeguard the case of the Washington club. The Old Fox will probably leave Tuesday night for the metropolis.

John Henry, accused by Ban Johnson of fomenting rebellion among American League players not members of the Griffins, is expected to be on hand to offer his own argument against the czar of the diamond.

Trades in the Air. The February meeting has always been fruitful of trades between big league clubs, and the 1917 session is no different from its predecessors. Indeed, practically every manager wants something for nothing, and will try to get it.

"I have no special deals in mind," says Manager Griffith, "but I can listen to reason. If anything is put up to me, I may consider it, though I'm satisfied with what I now have in the way of players."

Judging from reports received this past week or two, several propositions will be put before the Old Fox.

Jones in the Field. Fielder Jones will be in New York, angling for three players, a third baseman, a right-handed outfielder, and right-handed utility expert. He is expected to offer penn for Eddie Foster or Fritz Koenig, and also expected to be turned down in each case.

Jones will endeavor to rid himself of Eddie Plank, his veteran southpaw; Dave Davenport, his prize wild man of the mound; and Sam Rice, Ward Miller and one or two more.

Charlie Comiskey will smile and try to make some sort of a deal for Jim Scott, who has tired of working with the White Sox and going to bed early.

Jennings May Trade. Hughie Jennings is still hunting for capable twirlers and may be induced to talk business with either Fielder Jones or Charlie Comiskey. Plank or Davenport would fit in well with the Tigers, but so would Scott.

The principal candidates in both the White Sox and the Browns are trying to land Harry Hellman, the big utility slugger, and Hughie doesn't want to lose him.

It is barely possible, too, that Connie Mack may work some deal in involving Joe Bush and Wally Schang, both of whom have refused to sign their contracts.

Lewis on the Market. A report from Boston has Jack Lewis willing to make a deal that will send Duffy Lewis somewhere else. "Tillie" Walker, former Griffins and Browns, may also change his uniform.

Lewis is drilling along with the Griffins, which is not to Barry's satisfaction. The great throwing left fielder was not at his best last season and may be traded.

"Chick" Shorten did so well when used last summer that Barry thinks he is better than Walker. The latter, like Lewis, is holding out and, accordingly, not increasing his popularity with the club owners.

Evers Is Anxious. Jonny Evers is anxiously awaiting a deal that will make him a Yankee, but his anxiety is sure to be waste effort, for there are several National League clubs sure to hold him in that circuit.

Dave Puts, head of the fraternity, may be expected to come forward with some sort of an offer of peace, but he will be turned down cold. Major league moguls have severed relations with him and his fraternity.

The moguls are acting in conjunction with the majors in this attitude.

Though it is not certain, it is possible that both big leagues will adopt new player limits, cutting down the number of men allowed with each team. This will hit severely many of those players who decline to sign up for 1917.

BUCK WISE ENTERS ARMY-NAVY SCHOOL

Business Crack Should Aid Preps in All Branches of Sport This Spring.

Buck Wise, who graduated at Business High School last week, has entered the Army and Navy Preparatory School and will make a bid for the basketball and baseball teams there. Wise was a member of 'Business High School' for the past four years.

The former Business athlete earned more letters for athletics than any other Orange and Blue performer. He was a member of the football, baseball, and basketball squads for four years and earned letters each year. Twice in track work he won the high jump, earning a letter for that sport.

The basketball season is about done at the Army and Navy Prep School, but three more games being listed. Coach Clancy's team has been unbeaten in eight starts this season.

FLOOR TEAMS LIST MANY GAMES HERE

Schools and Colleges to Put in Busy Week in Basketball Battles.

Any day this week in a basketball game you may take in a basketball game any day this week if you like, or you may rush around several times each day keeping track of the floor activities of the various quints, as there will be something doing all the time in floor activity.

Despite the fact that the Georgetown University indoor track meet will be held at Convention Hall Saturday night, there will be plenty of activity for the basketball who are appearing to serve up sport in anticipation of a big night Saturday for the runners.

Schools Are Lively. The schoolboy quints will have a lively session of it on the boards. Tomorrow Technical will play Carroll in the Carroll Hall, and Western will engage the St. Albans School team.

Tuesday will find two scholastic games. The undefeated Army and Navy Preparatory School quint is slated to oppose the Georgetown University Freshmen in Ryan gymnasium, while Business and Central are making a battle of it for second place in the High School League race.

Wednesday the Friends' Select School team takes on Technical, and a hot battle is expected. Friday Eastern and Technical play, while Western battles Central. St. Albans and the A. N. P. combination are also booked for Friday. Friends are slated to meet the G. U. Freshmen.

College to Play. After a bit of a layoff the college teams in the city will do their best during the week. Gallaudet has two games listed for Wednesday. In the afternoon Temple College, of Philadelphia, is here, while at night Eastern College of Manassas, Va., is scheduled.

Temple is slated to oppose the George Washington team on Thursday night. Rumor has it that Glacomo, the Hatchette regular left forward, will be in action for the remainder of the season. "Shorty" McMahon, formerly of C. U., will probably take his place.

Carolina Comes Here. Carolina A. and M. is due here for a game with the Catholic University team on Friday night. Georgetown will battle Trinity of North Carolina, at the same time. Saturday night, Catholic University has a game scheduled with the Trinity College team at Carroll Institute.

Trinity is said to have an exceptionally fine quint this season, and one capable of giving the local college a hot battle. The visitors have been winning with regularity. The Carolina A. and M. quint is not as strong as usual.

Would Carry Few. A minimum roster limit of such recent scope, continued the chairman of the national commission, "should not be construed either as a threat or a move to checkmate the widely discussed strike of baseball players. Organized baseball need raise no weapon against this revolution. The strike is dead. There is no doubt about it."

Fraternity Issue Dead. "I know this from my relations with the Cincinnati club. As president of the Reds I assure you there are but three or four players of consequence still unsigned. Not one of the hold-outs had raised the fraternity issue. I could have every signature within twenty-four hours if I agreed to salary demands. That's the real answer to the strike."

But in the lowest possible roster limit for the major leagues a new element enters. This is protection for the minor leagues. Perhaps I should say, rather, assistance for them.

HILLTOPPERS HAVE MANY BALL GAMES

Thirty-one Contests Listed for Blue and Gray Team This Spring.

Capt. Bill Cusack and his Georgetown baseball team will have a busy time this spring. Manager Oliver F. Cabana, of the Blue and Gray nine, has been buying himself all the winter over a baseball schedule, and today presents a healthy and lengthy list of contests for the Hilltoppers.

From a cursory view of the situation it would appear that the Hilltoppers will have their hands more than full during the months of April and May.

Many Games Listed. The Hilltop manager has listed thirty-one games, which, crowded into two months, might appear to be something of a contract. Coach John O'Reilly will have the athletes out for action from now on, and promises to do his level best to win a majority of the games.

Lehigh, Lafayette, Holy Cross, Fordham, Boston College, Tufts, and the West Virginia offer the most attractive contests in this city, while Princeton, Rutgers, and some of those already mentioned are to be met on the Northern jaunts.

Ends Season May 30. Georgetown winds up its season in New York on Memorial Day, meeting Fordham in a return contest. The schedule, all games being played on the Hilltop diamond, unless otherwise specified, follows:

March 24, Mount St. Joseph's; 29, Loyola College.

April 3, Washington Americans, at American League park; 4, Lehigh; 5, Lafayette; 7, Colgate (pending); 9, Holy Cross; 10, Yale; 12, Fordham; 13, Boston College; 17, Lebanon Valley; 21, Drexel Institute; 23, Tufts; 25, Eastern College; 27, West Virginia University; 28, Navy, at Annapolis.

May 3, North Carolina College; 4, Washington College; 5, Trinity, of North Carolina; 9, Princeton, at Princeton; 10, Boston College, at Boston; 11, Tufts, at Medford; 12, Rutgers, at New Brunswick; 14, Navy, at Annapolis; 17, Bucknell; 19, Johns Hopkins, at Baltimore; 23, Gallaudet; 26, Holy Cross, at Worcester; 28, Seton Hall, at East Orange; 29, Drexel Institute, at Philadelphia; 30, Fordham, at New York.

TOME IS COMING George Green to Bring Speedy Youngsters to G. U. Meet.

George F. Green, former St. Albans School coach and now coach at Tome School, is bringing a number of youngsters to the Georgetown meet Saturday night.

Tome has been working hard in track and has had a squad of sixty runners out since early fall. Among these are Wrightson Tolson, of Cincinnati, Md., next year's football captain, a good hammer man; Baldwin Spillman, of Winchester, Va., valuable in the high jump and in the distances; William H. Baker, of York, Pa., who has the making of a middle-distance runner; and Robert Bradford, of Wilmington, this year's captain, a burly jumper and quarter-milester. These four made the 1916 team. Of the new material, Marshall E. Priddy, of Chicago, shows the most promise. He was one of the relay men that won the American championship in the Penn relay last spring. Lee Hardesty, of Washington, who won the novice race at the Tome meet last year, is being counted on again. George Marshall, of Chicago, is another good half-mile prospect.

In dash events, Earnshaw Cook, of Towson, Md., and Donald Brock, of Chicago, can be counted on, and Albert and Bruce Clark, of Galveston, Tex., will strengthen the middle-distance men.

SUCCEEDS HART. LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 11.—Jiggs Donahue, basketball and baseball coach at Washington and Lee this year, will go to Clemson College next fall to take charge of all athletics. It was learned here today.

Donahue, who was assistant coach in football last fall, has been identified with Washington and Lee sports as a player for four years and a coach for two, and was expected to remain here another season at least.

The former W. and L. star will succeed Wayne Hart, the former George Washington player and coach, who has been in charge of athletics at Clemson this season.

MAY STOP HANS. Home cooking may cause Hans Wagner, the newly wed, to quit baseball. The veteran walked into Pittsburgh baseball headquarters the other day looking as fat as the collector for a brewery. He confessed he was more than twenty pounds overweight, and put the blame on the excellent and bountiful meals that Mrs. Wagner prepared for him. Hans is so stout that Barney Dreyfuss fears that he cannot play ball, even if he doesn't want to retire.

BISSELL IN LEAD. Bissell won the first game, 160 to 114, and Bain the second, 168 to 162 in the ball line tournament at Sherman last night. The losers were Getmanhouse and Kilbourn. Bissell's victory gives him the lead in the race with three games won and none lost. His work last night was of the same steady, consistent kind that he has shown in every game. He scored a high run of 14 points.

In the second game Bain outplayed his rival, winning fairly and easily, coming up from behind with more than 30 points to cover.

Monday evening Christmas and Frost and Buynitzky and Dennison will contend for honors.

MCCORMICK APPOINTED. CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—President Johnson, of the American League, has signed Barry McCormick, a veteran major league star, as a member of the 1917 umpiring staff. McCormick officiated in the American Association last season.

GOLF IS AN AID IN CRISIS, SAYS EVANS

Points to President Wilson's Game as Highest Testimonial Offered.

Charles Evans, national open and amateur golf champion, thinks the ancient and honorable game of golf has been paid its highest testimonial by the recent announcement that President Wilson was playing his regular game with Dr. Grayson on the eve of the international crisis.

"At the critical moment in the history of the country he had gone in the open where strength and health of mind and body lie, and set about forgetting for a little while the cares and perplexities of his office," writes Evans.

"There are a thousand things President Wilson could have chosen to do—but he chose golf. The most peaceful game on earth, out among the sweeping hills, appealed to him."

BOB THAYER'S Sporting Gossip

Some ball players we know would make fine trench-diggers, even though the trenches were built for gas pipes.

This sudden wave of patriotism hitting baseball magnates and leaders might have been expected. It's popular these days to chatter about stuff, but that's about the end of it.

Captain Huston's bunk about having major league players drill so many hours a day makes headlines and everybody laugh at one and the same time. So far as the Griffins are concerned, they will need all their hours at Augusta to prepare for the baseball season. Digging holes in the ground or marching behind Nick Alitroch, who will be shouting, "Hip, hip, hip!" will not do the team any good in its fight for the pennant.

What's become of the Ardmore club? Thought they were to come back to life in February.

Ban Johnson promises to make the coming New York meeting a thing of joy to the baseball writers. First and foremost, he would lower admission rates to all future world's series. Then he would oversee possible changes in the playing rules. Last, but not least, he would make John Henry show cause why he should not be barred forever from participating in American League contests. By the time Ban finishes, he should be mentally and physically exhausted and the baseball writers should be suffering paralysis of the right arms.

"Dutch" Peck, former Western High l.d., is shining on the Penn freshmen basketball five. It pays to go to Western.

Tomorrow night Fred Fulton, the Minnesota plasterer, is to meet Charlie Welner, the Newark heavyweight, and if he emerges victorious, he will be well on his way to a chance at the world's championship, now owned exclusively by Jess Willard, the Kansas cow-prodder. On their past performances, Fulton should have no trouble winning from Welner. The latter has become thoroughly accustomed to being beaten and one more or less won't jar him in the least. As a matter of fact, Willard knew a year ago that his next bout would be with Fulton. But the promoters have had to educate the public in the merits of Fulton. That's why it has taken so long to bring the affair to a head.

One week from next Tuesday we'll all know how many of the Cubs dare expulsion from Dave Fultz's union.

C. U. WINS ANOTHER Tramples All Over Visiting Randolph-Macon College Five.

Catholic University had a nice practice last night at the expense of the Randolph-Macon College five. The visitors were no match for C. U. players and went down to a 42 to 13 count.

Coach Rice used nine players during the fray. Glascock and E. W. O'Brien were the leading point getters for the Brooklanders. O'Brien scored eight baskets from the floor while Glascock, made seven.

The four floor baskets were made by the visiting quint so closely were the Virginians guarded. Catholic University will finish up its schedule in the home gym from now on.

MAY LOSE STARS Derr and Estrusvaag to Quit Folwell's Football Team.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 11.—Bob Folwell will find the task of building a winning football team at Penn during the season of 1917 nearly as great as when he took the reins last season, and turned out a great team from a bunch of misfits of the year before.

It was learned yesterday that the Blue and Blue institution that Ingolf Estrusvaag, the North Dakota youth, will join Ben Derr in quitting the University of Pennsylvania inside of two weeks.

It was also rumored that a few more football players are on the verge of quitting Penn. This appears to be another harbinger of the ill-starred trip to California.

TRAVIS WINS TITLE Veteran Closes Career By Capturing South Florida Championship.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 11.—Walter J. Travis closed his long career as a player in fitting manner here yesterday by defeating Reginald M. Lewis, Wykagyl, 3 and 2, for the championship of South Florida.

Travis becomes a golf architect in March, which bars him from the amateur ranks.

The veteran at times was his old self, again he faltered and when it looked as though the aspiring youngster would catch him he took on new life, drove as he had not done in years and by sheer, dogged determination gained the verdict.

"BUMPS" TURNER WORKS. LEHONON, Pa., Feb. 11.—Jack Ozer, of Lebanon Valley College, has been named to meet Milt Turner, of Washington, D. C., in a wrestling bout to be staged in Fisher Academy of Music here next Thursday evening. Turner is a brother of Joe Turner, the middleweight champion, and has been a professional for the last four years. The match is to be decided by two in three falls.

BACKS HENRY UP. BOSTON, Feb. 11.—Johnny Evers, captain of the Braves, declared yesterday that he would permanently retire from the game if Catcher John Henry, of the Washington club, was expelled from the American League for his activities as vice president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity.

WANTS LOCAL CLUBS TO GET INTO LINE

Southern Association Extends Invitation to Potomacs and Annapostans.

Invitations were again extended to the Potomac and Annapostan Boat Clubs, of this city, to join the Southern Rowing Association, after last night's meeting at the Raleigh. The Arleis and Arundels, of Baltimore, will be joint hosts in the annual regatta to be staged in Baltimore late in June or early in July, according to the deliberations of the body which met last night.

Officers Elected. William A. Crawford, of the Virginia Boat Club, of Richmond, was elected to succeed Frank Driscoll, Ariel Boat Club, of Baltimore, as president of the association; H. A. Gillespie, of the Arundel Boat Club, Baltimore, was made vice president; Joseph R. Manuel, of the same club, secretary, and E. E. Carver, of the Old Dominion Boat Club, of Alexandria, treasurer.

The nomination of Baltimore as the scene of this year's regatta was made by R. E. L. Williamson, of the Ariel Boat Club. He assured the association that the Maryland metropolis was prepared to provide brilliant entertainment, and in this he was seconded by H. A. Gillespie, of the Arundels.

Appoints Committee. A regatta committee to arrange for the 1917 event was appointed as follows: C. W. Rolph, Ariel; H. C. Stohl, Arundel; J. D. Douglas, Old Dominion; and I. H. Williams, Virginius.

Those attending the meeting were H. C. Stohl, H. A. Gillespie, and Joseph R. Manuel, Arundel Boat Club; C. W. Rolph, Frank Driscoll, David A. Barrett, and R. E. L. Williamson, Ariel Boat Club; William A. Crawford, Irving H. Williams, and W. H. Watson, Virginia Boat Club, and J. D. Douglas and E. E. Carver, Old Dominion Boat Club.

LOSES TO VISITORS Friends Select is Downed in Two Games for Quaker Title.

Friends Select School went down before the visiting Friends team of Baltimore yesterday by a score of 43 to 28. The second team of the local school defeated the Baltimore five by 23 to 23, while the midgets from Baltimore won by 28 to 22.

Owings, of the visitors, shot ten baskets from the floor, and scored thirteen out of sixteen free tosses, while Harrison engaged nine out of eleven. Both shooters were in form and the fact that the visitors were able to take sixteen tries gave them the victory.

In basket shooting the teams were even, fifteen being registered by each quint. The return game between the two teams will be played in Baltimore, February 24.

O'REILLY TO PICK GEORGETOWN RELAY

Blue and Gray Coach Will Hold Watch on Athletes Tomorrow Afternoon.

John O'Reilly, Georgetown's track coach, will hold the watch on the Blue and Gray athletes tomorrow afternoon at the Hilltop to ascertain which four will represent the college in the feature relay Saturday night at Convention Hall.

The Hilltoppers have been training faithfully for the past month and can be expected to furnish several interesting trials tomorrow. Prominent among the candidates are Griffith, Arundel, and Connolly.

Griffith and Gates are Washington boys. The former won the South Atlantic quarter indoors last season and the latter was a member of Central's championship relay three years ago. Arundel won laurels last summer in the North, while Connolly is a former Holy Cross star and was a member of the relay which won two years ago.

BOWLERS PLAN FEED FOR COMING SPRING Southeasters to Give Elaborate Affair in Honor of Grand Centrals' Victory.

Southeast All-Stars, who owe the Grand Central duckpin team a banquet for having been trimmed in a special pinch, have postponed the affair until April when the most elaborate "feed" of its kind ever held here will be in order. In addition to the banquet a regular entertainment will be provided. According to present plans between 150 and 200 will attend.

The Grand Centrals, headed by Capt. Tom Keane, will be the guests of honor.

Johnny Vaeth and Tom Mayhew, Grand Centrals, probably will roll Ray Chapin and Ed Howell, representing the Palace Midway League, in four sets with the Murad team he has knocked down 1,207 pins.

Morris Cafritz, Henry Rodier, and Peyton B. Fletcher, alleged pocket billiard players, will engage in a three-cornered match shortly to settle arguments as to which can make 50 balls first.

Royals hear no more from Von Loosberg's Baltimore Stars regarding a proposed match. Royals' phenomenal rolling against Roanoke may have something to do with it.

SCHEDULE IS OUT Maryland State Has Tough Campaign Ahead for Next Fall.

Maryland State today announces its football schedule. The States will have the hardest schedule in the history of football at College Park. Success under Coach Byrd in the past two years have warranted the belief that the State teams could meet stronger eleven and next fall the eleven will be put to the test.

Princeton, Penn. State, Navy, and North Carolina A. and M. are the hardest teams to be met. The Virginia Military Institute, St. John's College, of Annapolis, and Johns Hopkins are the teams played regularly.

The list of engagements follows: September—29, Princeton, at Princeton; October—6, Delaware College; 13, Navy, at Annapolis; 20, Virginia Military Institute, at Lexington, Va.; 27, Wake Forest.

November—3, North Carolina College; 10, St. John's, at Annapolis; 17, Penn. State, at State College, Pa.; 24, Johns Hopkins, at Baltimore.
